Lowder's 148.4-pound, 11-point buck netted him $800 ($700 for first place, $100 daily prize), narrowly edging out Roger Pike Davis of Ansonville, who weighed in a 148.2-pound, seven-point buck for second place and $475. In the doe category, Darren Poplin of Wadesboro took the top prize with a 111.4-pounder worth $700 plus a $100 daily prize, followed by Randy Thomas of Marshville with a 104.5-pounder; John

Bishop of Kannapolis, 104.0 and $400; Shane Thomas of Polkton, 99.4 and $200; and John Springer Jr. of Wadesboro, 94.5 and $125.

Kevin Bye, first place winner in the Youth Buck Division with a 106.1-pound buck.

In the youth overall buck category, Kevin Bye of Lilesville took the top prize of $300 (including a $50 daily prize) with a four-point, 106.1-pounder; and Jake Edwards of Peachland earned $200 (including a $25 daily prize) and second place with an eight-point, 101.4-pounder. Justin McCall of Wadesboro earned $75 third place (including a daily prize of $15) with a button, 57.6-pounder. Kevin Cabrera of Peachland earned $50 fourth place (including a $15 daily prize) with a button, 56.5-pounder.

Elizabeth Tarlton, first place winner in the Youth Doe Division with a 115.3-pound doe.

In the youth overall doe category, Elizabeth Tarlton of Wadesboro took first place with a 115.3-pounder, earning $250 plus a $50 daily prize. She was followed by Jake Black of Wadesboro, 92.5 and $200; and Ethan Henson of Vilas, 83.1 and $125. Mason Krol of Mount Gilead won a free entry in next year's event. Tarlton's 115.3-pound doe set a youth tournament record, eclipsing the 2002 record set by Darren Poplin. Brett Sikes holds the youth record for a buck at 158.1 pounds set in 2000. "Everything went well," observed Lynn Edwards, executive director of the Anson County Chamber of Commerce, the tournament's sponsor. "Everyone enjoyed the food at the Saturday night banquet." Edwards estimated that 250 people attended the banquet festivities. God's Country Outfitters of Albemarle was the 2008 Title Sponsor. Edwards said Perdue provided the chicken, while Pepsi and Coca-Cola donated the soft drinks for the banquet. She said hunt volunteers had set up a special room for youngsters, ages nine and under, "to walk through and choose a prize. Youths ages 10 and up were given a door prize ticket for the drawing. We had something for everyone who attended the banquet." In addition, the 286 registered hunters for the 2008 tournament tied the record set in 2006. "We had a lot of new hunters entered in our event this year," Edwards said. In drawings, David Webb won the 270-caliber Remington; Greg Mecimore took home the tree stand; and Avery Harrington garnered the $100 cash prize. Pick Board winners were Bron Hyatt, first place, who won a Cuddeback Scouting camera; Kevin Thomas, second, who won a 15-foot ladder tree stand; and Jake Mecimore, third, who won a NRA ceiling fan. Edwards said each youth's name was entered in a special drawing. Brandon Biles won the youth rifle; and Kori Ann Davis and Hunter Sheppard each won a $50 prize. Edwards thanked all of the hunt volunteers for their time, the corporate sponsors and members of the Big-Game Hunt Committee, who oversee the annual event. The 2009 Big-Game Hunt Tournament dates are Nov. 27-28.

The "B" in B&B Pest Control!

Bill Boone, the big "B" in B&B Pest Control, has given back to the community for decades. There's not many people in Anson County who doesn't know Bill. He has touched lives in many different ways, whether by telling just one of his millions of jokes to just giving a kind word, he has constantly been selfless, making sure everyone else was okay before taking care of himself.

Walk in B&B in a bad mood one day while he is there and you will probably walk out smiling saying to yourself "God broke the mold when he made that one." Bill can be nice and pick with you, but he also knows when it's time to get down to business. He can be serious but there will still be humor in the way he goes about it.

Through the years Bill has faced some difficult times that some of us may never even dream of, but that hasn't stopped him from putting customers, employees, friends and family first. Whenever your around him you will always learn something new and quite entertaining that he has gained through his own experiences. Just sit down or ride with him somewhere for one afternoon and we guarantee that you will hear some life experiences and challenges he's faced from taking care of a farm, the Great Depression of the 30's, the pest control company, owning and operating B&B Grocery, to just life in general.

Bill has been in the pest control business over 50 years and has not tired out from it yet. B&B is still going strong with the help from the community. At this time Bill and Tim would like to thank the community for all their support through the years and hopes that they will be able to continue to prosper. The employees would like to thank Bill for all he has done not only as an employer but also as a friend.

Daddy, I Love You!
